Global Economic Trends in 2024

In 2024, global economic trends reflect a mix of recovery and challenges. The COVID-19 pandemic's long-term impacts are still visible, but most economies are gradually returning to normalcy. Some key trends include:

- Growth in Developing Countries: India and China are showing significant GDP growth, with India surpassing a 6.8% growth rate due to increased investments in technology and infrastructure.
- Slower Growth in Developed Countries: Countries like the United States and Japan are experiencing slower growth, with the U.S. showing a 2.1% growth rate, partly due to inflation control measures.
