

Q.1. Power supply → Power supply is the main object for a computer, without power supply computer can not work.

Motherboard → Motherboard is a component where all important units are work. Motherboard have all control units.

Q.2 System software whose are already inbuilt in system is known as system software.

Q.4. Devices who takes input data, process or it and give output to user is output device.

Printer → Printer is very common output device.

Speaker → Speaker is also example of output device because he give output in form of sound.