

27/8/22

Page: / /
Date: / /

Name - Kanishka Bhatnagar
Course - DCAA
Roll No - 1397
Date - 27 August, 2022
Class Teacher - Monika Ma'am
Abhyas login - 9034185783
Father's Name - Raj Kumar Bhatnagar

Q1 • Power Supply: It is an electric device that supplies electric power to an electrical load. Its main purpose is to give electric supply to computer system.

• Motherboard: It is the main printed circuit board in computers and various other systems. It holds and allows communication between many of the electronic components.

Q2 System Software: System Software is a computer software that is designed to operate ~~comp~~ computer hardware and provide a platform for running application software.
Example: Windows 7, Windows Explorer, etc...

System Software

Application Software

Q3

- ① It runs when the system and runs till the end.
- ② manage resource and help to run computer hardware and application program

③ Eg: Windows 7, Windows Explorer etc.

- ① Runs when the system user by required

perform a specific task based on their type.

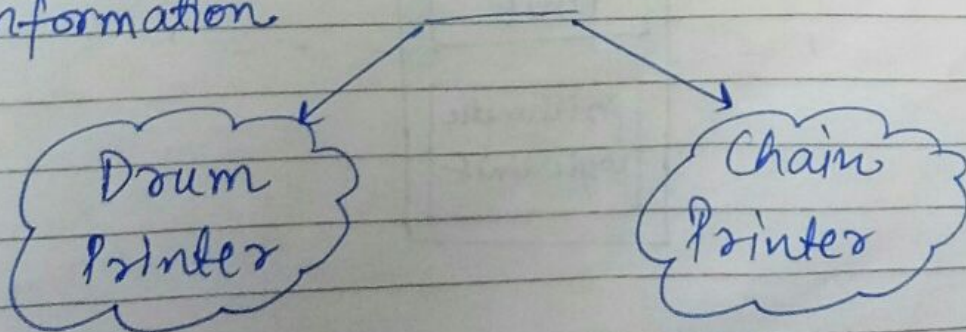

③ Eg: MS Excel, MS Word MS Powerpoint etc.

Q4

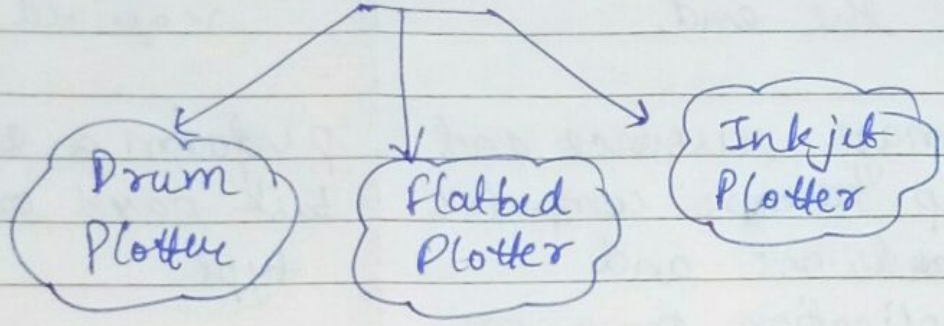

Output Devices: It is the devices that helps the user to see the information processed by the computer system.

At first the input is given by input devices such as keyboard, mouse etc which is then processed by CPU (Central Processing Unit) and then the result is presented to the user by means of output devices.

- ① Printer: It is one of the output device which helps in accessing the information

② Plotters : Plotter is also an output device, that is used to print graphs, pictures, charts, tables etc. on paper.

Q5

Computer organisation and ~~an~~ architecture is the work of study in Internet working structuring by the user and implementation of a computer system architecture is the external as a attribute as a program.

COMPUTER ARCHITECTURE

